

ITCHING BURNING IRRITATING ECZEMA

On Body, Then Face and Head. Clothing Irritated Eruption, Thought Child Would Be Bald, Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

230 Chester St., Brooklyn, N. Y.—My child was troubled with eczema. It began on his body, covering it with red spots and later went on his face and also on his head. The spots were red and in the center of each spot it was rough. The itching and burning were so bad that he scratched and irritated the eruption and also his clothing irritated it. When he would get up in the morning his body would be a mass of blood. They called it weeping eczema. On the top and back of his head there was a hair to be seen. I thought he would be bald for the rest of his life.

I obtained several remedies prescribed but without success. Having lasted for three months I was about to give up hope for his recovery when I sent for a box of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Applying the same I saw a great relief. I purchased one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and continued using them for three weeks and the child was entirely cured. Mother Nature's Own Recommendations For "Better Babies"

Whole-wheat is one of Mother Nature's few foods which every doctor endorses. Such a food is "Force." Each flake is a whole grain of wheat, cooked with barley malt to make it unusually digestible.

Children love the delicious flavor of "Force." You know, no doubt, how important this is. It leads the little ones to chew "Force" thoroughly, thus preparing all the fine full nutriment for easy assimilation. When the grocer takes your order tomorrow, be sure that he includes a package of "Force" Toasted Wheat Flakes.

Read This Letter from a Mother of Five Children: "A food must be palatable indeed to be enjoyed when served only with warm water and sugar and that is the way my children get 'FORCE' served to them until they are old enough to be beyond the dangers of summer complaint in the warm weather."

"My fifth baby, at present four months old, is enjoying her two regular feeds of 'FORCE' just as the other four before her. In between, of course, her bottle of cow's milk combined with prepared barley flour. 'FORCE' is to us indispensable, certainly while we have a baby in the house. And if it is such a good preventive of constipation and indigestion and other ailments of a weak stomach when babies are concerned, it must have considerable merit also for growing children and adults."
